GANDHI MAY GO TO LONDON CONFERENCE

POLICE ARREST LATEST INDIAN RAID LEADER

Woman Who Succeeded Gandhi Taken By British Force As She Directs Volunteers to Government Salt Depot At Dharsana; Hundreds Hurt In Clash With Police; Prison Numbers Grow.

Bombay, India, May 21.—Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, Hindu poetess, who succeeded Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji as leader of the civil disobedience campaign, was arrested by British police this morning as she directed a raid on the government depot at Dharsana.

On hundred nationalist volunteers, on Saturday as they are called, were injured in a clash with police during the raid. Others arrested were Manilal Gandhi, son of the Mahatma, the Mahatma's secretary, Pyarelal, and the Imam Babab of Eswar, a Moslem fellow-worker of Gandhi's.

At almost the same time 300 unarmed police and fifty armed police, under high officers, rushed the headquarters here of the All National Congress. All office workers, including the president of the local council, Narimat, were arrested.

NINETY ARRESTED
Ninety-five volunteers starting at dawn from the Congress House for a raid on the salt depot at Wadala were taken to the police station, where they were held.

Mrs. Naidu, who is of middle age, is the third of civil disobedience heads to be taken into custody. She was designated by Mahatma Gandhi early in the campaign to follow with Abbas Tyabji to leadership of the campaign when he should be arrested, and she was so upon Tyabji's arrest, May 12.

She immediately directed her attention to the raid of the Dharsana salt depot, announcement of which was believed to have precipitated the present arrest and imprisonment at Yerwada, Poona.

POLICE SURROUND THEM
Last week she and nationalist volunteers proceeded to Dharsana, where they were met by police, who surrounded them but would not lay hands on them beyond to keep them from proceeding. After remaining all night in this situation, the police finally arrested her, removed her from their cordon, and then released her.

Thereafter she took a less active part in the salt raiding, and said she would not join the raiding because of her physical condition. In the present event she felt her presence would be called for.

Mrs. Naidu is widely known in England and the United States. She was educated at King's College, London, and was a friend of Oscar Wilde, Max Beerbohm and other celebrities. After returning to India she became a champion of national rights and once headed the all India National Congress in succession to Mahatma Gandhi.

OFFICER CHASES RACING AUTOS ON DOUGLAS ST.

Youthful Drivers of "Drive Yourself" Cars Brought to Court
Magistrate Jay Points to Large Increase of Accidents Due to Speeding

Two "drive yourself" cars, filled with young people, racing side by side down Douglas Street, just inside the city limits, as the occupants of each shouted at one another, were described by Constable A. C. Carmichael of the Provincial Police during the hearing of a charge of driving to the common danger against Albert Woodruff in the City Police Court this morning.

Woodruff was found guilty and fined $25. The driver of the other car had previously been fined a like amount. Both cars were equipped with governors which were supposed to prevent them from speeding. The police officer testified he paced them at forty-seven miles an hour. Although the drivers bore a seal placed by the "drive yourself" firm, they did not have a government seal, which has been refused because it was a simple matter to tamper with them, he said.

HEAVY BLANKET OF SNOW COVERS WHOLE PROVINCE

Telephone Wires and Poles Strawn In Path of Blizzard Which Sprang Up Last Night and Is Expected to Spread to Saskatchewan and Manitoba To-morrow.

Edmonton, May 21.—Driven by a howling northwesterly wind traveling at a speed of thirty-nine miles an hour, one of the heaviest snowstorms experienced during the present year swept down on Alberta last night and threw a heavy blanket over the entire province from Peace River to a point some miles south of Red Deer.

Throughout the rural areas telephone communication is totally disrupted with wires and poles down everywhere in the path of the storm, while some trouble has been encountered by railway telegraph lines.

FOUR INCHES OF SNOW
At 10 o'clock this morning approximately four inches of snow had fallen, according to the Dominion Meteorological Bureau here. The snow was still coming down and weather bureau instruments gave no indication that there would be a let-up. Its invasion into Saskatchewan and Manitoba is expected to-morrow.

Although the thermometer registered a minimum of thirty-nine degrees during the night, it did not damage crops, vegetables or flowers since the snow formed a blanket over the earth protecting it from the freezing wind.

PENSION CHANGES APPROVED

Federal Members Unite in Helping Bill Through Commons
Gives Veteran Every Advantage on War Service Injury Appeal

Ottawa, May 21.—The government and the opposition united last night in expressing appreciation for the work of the parliamentary committee on pensions, when the bill to amend the Pensions Act was before the House of Commons in committee.

The bill will give legislative effect to the recommendation of the pensions committee decided upon after a lengthy enquiry into the claims of organization of returned men for more generous treatment. The bill passed the committee stage quickly, and was given third reading. It now goes to the Senate.

When he arose to explain the bill, Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, praised the work of the committee. He felt that not only would the returned men, but all the people of Canada, would be pleased with the work which had been accomplished and highly appreciative of the untiring efforts of the members of the committee.

TO PREPARE CASES
The bill revises the machinery for dealing with appeals of soldiers from the Pensions Board. It provides a veteran's bureau to prepare the cases for soldiers. An important change gives a veteran the advantage when there is a reasonable doubt whether his incapacity was due to war service.

CONGRATULATING THE COMMITTEE ON THE PATIENTS' KNOWLEDGE
The committee was composed of men with first hand experience of soldiers' problems. He especially praised the chairman, C. C. Power, Liberal, Quebec South.

GENEROUS COMPENSATION
No difference of opinion existed among Canadian people, the Conservative leader declared. As to the pensioners' problems, they wanted a measure of generous compensation to all those who had risked their lives for this country. It assured the returned man that the country was behind him, said Mr. Bennett.

THERE WAS NOTHING PARTISAN IN THE BILL OR IN THE METHODS BY WHICH THE COMMITTEE HAD WORKED.
The bill was then passed clause by clause, explanations being given by Mr. Power.

A. W. Neil, Independent, Comox-Alberni, urged that the Minister should take particular steps to communicate to the returned soldiers the nature of the pension changes. This was promised by Dr. King.

CHURCHILL FLAYS SNOWDEN BUDGET

Most Devastating of Any On Record, Says Former Chancellor.
GEORGE HAMBELTON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
London, May 21.—The House of Commons yesterday heard another vigorous attack upon the Snowden budget, delivered by the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer. He heard also expressions from the left-wing Laborites, from the Liberal Party, representatives of the Exchequer have penalized thrift, have helped to drive large sums of money from this country, as a result of high taxation and depression, have hampered industry and periled employment.

SAFEGUARDING DUTIES
"Mr. Snowden," the former Chancellor warned, "will run a great risk if he cancels the safeguarding duties owing to a rigid free trade doctrine. Safeguarding provides employment and yields good revenue to the treasury."

Britain's expenditures on the social service were twice as great as those of any other country in the world, Mr. Churchill stated, and the revenue to meet such huge expenditures could come only from industry.

PSYCHOLOGISTS OFFER TO AID JOB HUNTERS

Workers May Now Obtain Certificates of Natural Abilities Disclosed By Tests

By PAUL HARRISON

Science is taking the guess-work out of job-hunting, and may take the place of the old-fashioned letter of recommendation entirely out of circulation. For if the plans of an organization of prominent psychologists are successful, the prospective worker of to-morrow will know what he wants to do, how capable he is of doing it, and will carry a certified statement of his various abilities based on a series of elaborate psychological tests.

In fact, these tests already are being made by the Psychological Corporation, a non-profit-making concern headed by Dr. B. S. Woodworth of Columbia University. Dr. J. McKenney Cattell, president of the recent International Congress of Psychology, is chairman of the board. Not only are certificates issued and signed by accredited examiners, showing the standing of individuals in the different types of tests, but vocational counsel is offered to aid persons in selecting a vocation for which they are particularly well fitted.

Employers, too, are taking advantage of the service. By tests which determine the comparative intelligence, personality, dexterity and many other qualities of employees doing satisfactory work, several large industrial organizations have drawn up personnel requirements which are almost as exacting as specifications for machinery.

"Once these requirements are determined," pointed out Dr. Paul S. Achilles, secretary of the Psychological Corporation, "an employer can determine with reasonable accuracy whether an applicant would be satisfactory in a certain job."

PERSONALITY MORE IMPORTANT

"Intelligence is just one of many factors which should be considered. Personality may be much more important, or dexterity, or memory. Success in one job may depend upon ability to concentrate, in another, on general alertness."

"So far, we have worked out definite tests for only a few types of office workers, but we are prepared to test almost any kind of ability any worker may have, from mechanical aptitude to musical talent."

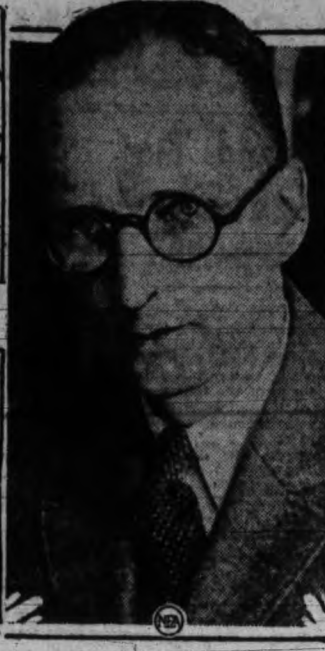

Dr. Achilles is a professor of voca-

TESTS RANGE FROM MECHANICAL ABILITY TO MUSICAL TALENT

FREE CLINICS ARE TO BE ESTABLISHED

Dr. Paul S. Achilles, above, Columbia University professor and secretary of the Psychological Corporation, handles the business of the scientific organization which now is paying its own way.

"That charges for professional services should be scaled just as some physicians are doing at present—by what the patient can afford to pay. This means, of course, that some services will be absolutely free. The New York Association of Consulting Psychologists now is co-operating with the corporation, and we hope to establish a sort of super-clinic here."

The secretary explained that there are authorized representatives in practically all large cities, and at many universities. Their business is booming in New York, where many employers already are sending applicants for jobs to be tested for ability.

"The certificates issued upon completion of a battery of tests eventually will be of great value to both the employer and employee," he declared.

"The former can tell by a glance at the record whether the applicant has the necessary qualities for the job. And the worker, knowing where his talents and his shortcomings lie, should be able to find a pleasant occupation where there will be little danger of dissatisfaction or discharge."

OFFERS NO FALSE HOPE

"But the cardinal principle of vocational counsel is that each person must make his own decision. Psychology knows exactly what it can do at present, pretends to go no further, and raises no false hopes. We can give a person more adequate information about himself, and point out how his various qualities and natural abilities compare with those of other people. By personal interviews, we then can select a few general fields in which he will have the best chance of success. But he must make the final choice."

The majority of failures, psychologists believe, are due not to lack of intelligence or ability, but to social maladjustment and the wrong attitude toward jobs. More than fifty per cent of all employed persons, Dr. Achilles believes, are definitely unhappy in their present positions.

"If everybody were trained and selected for work," said Dr. Cattell, chairman of the board, there might result in industry a revolution as great as that brought about through the introduction of machinery. The scientific control of conduct may become of greater economic importance than the uses of electricity or steel."

That is the reason why the abstract science of mental behavior is concerning itself so deeply with the objective problems of labor. "It is not unreasonable to assume," Dr. Cattell continued, "that the production of national wealth would be doubled if everyone, from the feeble-minded child to the president of the nation, were allowed to do the work he can do best, and were trained to do it in the best way."

NEW ZEALAND
TRADE HEAD TO VISIT VICTORIA

J. W. Collins, New Commissioner to Canada, Will Arrive Here To-morrow

Collins, for many years secretary of the New Zealand Government Department of Industries and Commerce, at Wellington and recently appointed New Zealand trade commissioner to Canada, will arrive in Victoria to-morrow on the Ss. Princess Kathleen and will confer with ministers of the provincial government. He will be entertained here by officers of the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

In 1926 Mr. Collins visited Canada to install and take charge of the New Zealand exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

His appointment as trade commissioner was made at the close of last year by the Sir Joseph Ward government.

It is planned to take the visitor around the city and to entertain him during the evening.

SECESSION DEBATED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Issue Thought Dead Prompts Lively Discussion

Up to Voters to Rule on Remaining in Empire, Says Nationalist

Capetown, South Africa, May 21.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—The secession issue—dismissed by many as dead and buried—is again the force in South Africa's politics. It proved a lively corpse yesterday in the House of Assembly, where the subject of the Union's right to secede from the British Commonwealth of Nations was hotly debated.

The question arose when Premier Hertzog asked the House to approve the recommendations of the London Conference of 1929 on Dominion's legislation and merchant shipping. General Jan C. Smuts, former premier and South African party leader, started the battle by his interpretation of that conference's decisions.

General Smuts declared the recommendations of the conference had finally disposed of the secession issue because it would be utterly impossible for South Africa to secede from the British Commonwealth without the full and unanimous consent of all the other Dominions as well as the British Parliament.

TAKE EXCEPTION

The Nationalists took strong exception to this view, declaring that, if correct, it would make all talk of free association within a commonwealth so much "cant and hypocrisy."

Hon. N. C. Havenga, Minister of Finance, declared the Smuts interpretation, if sustained, would "prove the starting point of a new secession struggle as the Nationalists could not possibly accept it."

General Van der Merwe, another prominent Nationalist, maintained South Africa's voters had the entire right to decide whether or not the Union should remain in the Empire or secede.

Peter Styrdom, Nationalist, moved an amendment, "in order to put the matter beyond doubt" that the House should accept the recommendations of the conference provided they did not encroach upon "South Africa's right" to secede from the commonwealth. Several ministers supported the Styrdom amendment.

CLAIMS AFRICA HAS RIGHT

Colonel Creswell, the Minister of Defence, and a Labor leader declared South Africa unquestionably had the right to secede but he thought the Union had no intention of exercising the right.

"I do not believe one man in 5,000 in South Africa wants secession," declared the minister. "The bond between the members of this commonwealth is that of goodwill."

Colonel Creswell suggested an addition to the Styrdom amendment which would make it clear that every member of the British Commonwealth had the right to secede and not only South Africa. Mr. Styrdom accepted the addition.

The premier said the Rt. Hon. Mr. Smuts had meant his interpretation as a deliberate challenge to the Nationalists who had accepted it as such. The premier said he would take the amendment with him to the Imperial Conference in October.

CONSERVATIVES HOSTILE TO NAVAL TREATY

Eighty-two in British House on Record Against Ratification

Rank and File Restless on Both Side of Commons

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
London, May 21.—With the rank and file restless on both sides of the House of Commons, and an exceedingly important by-election pending, the political situation has become very interesting.

The government has had some anxious moments over the actions of Labor's left-wingers in abstaining from voting, as illustrated in Monday's debate on unemployment. And among the Conservatives there is uneasiness over what some back-benchers claim to be lack of leadership on the naval treaty and Empire free trade. At the same time Lord Beaverbrook, chief proponent of Empire free trade, is harassing Conservative headquarters for its apathetic attitude towards this plank.

AGAINST TREATY

Eighty-two Conservative members of Parliament recently signed a notice of a motion against ratification of the London Naval Treaty on the ground that part three, the section covering the three-power pact with the United States and Japan, is contrary to the interests of the British Empire.

One of the grounds for this is the decision that fifty cruisers should be the standard of defence for the commonwealth, against the seventy cruisers which formerly figured in all discussions.

VITAL CONTEST

All three parties meanwhile are facing the by-election in Nottingham Central, which The Times to-day described as "vital election." This, The Times explains, "is the first election to be fought on the new official programme of the Unionist (Conservative) Party, which consists of the immediately practicable policy of safeguarding with a postscript paying tribute to the desirability of the slower and more difficult policy of Empire free trade."

"The question before the party has for some time past been whether the emphasis between two items of safeguarding and Empire free trade should not be reversed and the present by-election therefore be a test of the acceptability of the official view."

EMPIRE FREE TRADE

And fortified by the victory in the West Fulham by-election, Lord Beaverbrook is urging Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin to drop his policy of referendum on the question of taxing foreign food, to benefit Empire producers. Lord Beaverbrook claims that since he accepted the Conservative referendum compromise and disbanded his own United Empire Party, two new considerations have arisen. The first is that the Conservative central office appears not to be using the referendum as a spear with which to fight for Empire free trade, but as a shield behind which to shelter itself from the issue of a tax on foreign foodstuffs, in his words. The second consideration is "acceptance of the principles of Empire free trade by the Liberal Government of Canada," with reference to the recent changes in the Canadian tariff.

ORIENT HOLDS PROSPECTS FOR TRADE OPENING

Hon. Herbert Marler Impressed With Opportunities For Canada

Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Tokio, May 8.—(By Mail)—In an interview with the Canadian Press Correspondent, Hon. Herbert Marler, the Canadian Minister to Japan, declared that he had been tremendously impressed by the China trade possibilities for the Dominion, not only for the future but those which may be taken advantage of even now, that had come to his notice during his recent tour of observation in certain of the great centres of that country.

The business men of Canada, His Excellency reiterated, stand to gain greatly in the field of commerce in the Orient and China, especially if they will spare no effort to take advantage of the opportunities that are offered, particularly by sending men out to canvass the markets on the spot, and report home what actual conditions are.

In this connection the Canadian business men's tour to the Far East, planned for later in the year, should be well supported, as it holds out great promise in the way of enabling the exporters of the Dominion to grasp the situation and the opportunities for trade that are offered.

Mr. Marler added that he had been treated with the greatest courtesy by Chinese and British officials, and by Canadian and other British residents in China. He had been entertained by and had had conversations with Dr. C. T. Wang, the Foreign Minister, at Hankow; the new capital of China, Mr. W. T. Southern, the officer administering the government at Hongkong, the British Consul-General, Mr. Brennan, at Shanghai, and many others.

INDIAN DISCHARGED

Nelson, May 21.—After deliberating twenty minutes, a jury here yesterday brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of Baptiste Philip, Creston Indian. He was charged with shooting with intent to kill. The case arose out of Philip shooting over the head of Andrew Alexander, another Indian of the Creston reserve, following a quarrel over a drinking party, in which Philip's wife had taken part. Evidence showed Philip intended only to scare Alexander and could have shot him had he so wished.

CANADIANS CARRY CITIZENSHIP FIGHT TO COURTS OF U.S.A.

New York, May 21.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reserved decision in the appeals to Dr. Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, Yale Professor of Theology, and Miss Marie A. Bland, Canadian war nurse, have been denied citizenship in the United States.

John W. Davis, arguing the appeal for Dr. MacIntosh, barred from citizenship because he refused to take oath unreservedly for the United States, declared no one ever had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States "without making some mental reservation which would leave him some freedom of action when the time came to make a decision."

He argued that Dr. MacIntosh had said he was opposed only to the bearing of arms if his conscience decided against it, and he did not say he would not fight under any circumstances.

Miss Bland was barred from citizenship because she said she had religious scruples against war.

In presenting her appeal to-day, Emily Marx, Miss Bland's attorney, said the war nurse was willing to take oath to "defend" her country if the definition was not interpreted to mean bearing arms.

THE PENSION BILL PASSES

"I will feel that the returned soldiers throughout the country, and the public as well, will receive the news of the proposed amendments to the Pension Act with great satisfaction, and they will hope that Parliament will not only accept the report, but will act upon it forthwith."—Lieut.-Col. L. R. Lafleche, D.S.O., M.C., president of the Canadian Legion, after he had read the recommendations of the select committee of the House of Commons in regard to returned soldier problems.

SINCE COLONEL LAFLECHE AND other officials of the Canadian Legion, so expressed themselves the other day, Hon. J. H. King's bill, embodying the recommendations of the special committee of the House of Commons has been sent to the Senate unanimously approved by the lower chamber—accompanied by many complimentary references to the painstaking work of the committee.

The measure provides for a number of important changes in the Pension Act, the general object of which is to cure many irritating anomalies which could be traced to a really genuine attempt to write into the statute a set formula to meet all cases—an impossible undertaking, as events have shown. The committee appointed by Parliament to overhaul the existing Act was given a free hand in the matter and empowered to hear all whom it considered might assist it in its work. It obtained much assistance from Colonel Lafleche and other officials of the Canadian Legion and information and suggestions from many quarters, including representatives of the public.

Briefly put, it is considered that the new bill will remove the last vestige of "red tape" and let sufficient elasticity into the procedure to enable the Pension Board to give much more effective service than it has been able to give in the past. Hitherto there has been a feeling among the petitioners that unless they had a case to present that looked to be iron-clad, they had a doubtful chance of obtaining what they considered adequate justice. Often, of course, no real ground existed for this attitude; but it unquestionably existed. The safeguards and new provisions incorporated in the bill awaiting the approval of the Senate, however, insure just treatment in every particular.

The new measure, in addition to the Pension Board, will set up a tribunal consisting of nine members whose function will be exclusively judicial. A quorum of the court will ordinarily be two, eight of the members being assigned in pairs to specific territorial areas in which they will hold public hearings at which will be heard all applicants—whose application the Board has—to insure the proper presentation of cases before the tribunal and, so far as possible, to shorten its proceedings. Provision is made for the representation before the tribunal, not only of the applicant, but also of the public which provides the funds of which the tribunal is empowered to dispose. Authority also has been given for the organization of a veterans' bureau, staffed with pension advocates, and also for the appointment of a staff of counsel.

Of particular interest to the returned men who are or may be pensionable is the provision for the establishment of a rule whereby all reasonable inferences are to be drawn in favor of the applicant, who is to be given the benefit of the doubt, the rule providing that the applicant is to be relieved from the obligation of giving conclusive evidence in favor of his right—an obligation obviously in many cases quite impossible for him to discharge. The old system in this regard always has been a bone of contention among the veterans.

Another important feature of the new Act is the repealing of that provision in the old one which requires application for pension in respect of death to be made within three years after death, or within three years after dependency arises. Then, members of the forces who have accepted final payments in lieu of their pension—notwithstanding the fact that their pensionable have not increased—now will again be pensionable.

The new bill also modifies that provision in the present Act which was designed to prevent marriage being entered into for the sake of a widow's pension. It is now provided that a widow who has married a pensioner will be entitled to a pension upon his death from an injury or disease attributable to service, if the marriage took place either before the pension was granted or before January 1, last. Previously, the widow was entitled to the pension only if the marriage was contracted prior to 1920. It is estimated that between 600 and 700 widows will be benefited under this change.

Broadly speaking, therefore, the new bill obviously is completely satisfactory to the returned men, while the public naturally will feel that the pledge given in its behalf when these men responded to the call to arms now is about to be fulfilled. This is solid progress in a most important national matter.

THE YEAR'S GREAT ADVENTURE

THIS IS THE SEASON WHEN A curious but familiar urge intrigues the human family, that feeling which we all know so well, the temptation to leave behind the restraints of everyday life and plunge manfully into the wilderness. Most of us, however, must content ourselves with a mild two-weeks' holiday. This is our annual reaction against the system of living which we find quite satisfactory at other times, the great adventure of the year. And even though it is delayed until later in the summer, now is the time for planning it, and the planning of a holiday, as everyone knows, is joy in itself.

The holiday problem, on which cartoonists and humorous writers spend much of their energy in the spring, does not exist for us on Vancouver Island—unless it be the problem of selecting a holiday retreat from among the innumerable attractive places so close at hand. There are holidays on the Island for every age, every temperament and every purse. As you think them over in this season of preparation, your one regret will be that you can not take them all in during that short space of two weeks—the briefest fortnight of the entire year.

There are great timbers, with twilight at noon, tide, along the shores of Cameron Lake, and sandy beaches where you may pitch your tent beside the water. The salmon will be running soon up the rivers that empty into Alberni Canal, filling the green pools in milling thousands and hurling themselves in mighty leaps over the rapids. Around Sproul Lake the wooded hills tower up to snow-capped mountains and the trout will gobble your fly with enthusiasm on a summer's evening up Taylor Arm. The sand will be hot next month up Qualicum way, heating the water as it comes rolling in from the Gulf of Georgia.

From the highway farther north you may see the great jagged sweep of the mainland mountains, white and blue as crystal, and you may cook your dinner on a pebble beach there, and perhaps pick an apple or two from some old, forgotten orchard. The great Tyee salmon is heading now towards Campbell River, and up that stream you may look down into deep, green pools from the moist rocks where the maiden-hair fern grows three feet high, and there is a perpetual rainbow on the spray of Elk Falls.

If your spirit is bolder, and there is no adventure enough for you on the main highway, you may penetrate into the real wilderness on Butte Lake, where there is no road at all, but a cool, shady path through the forest, and you must carry your own pack or load it on a pack horse. These and innumerable other quiet places are at our door, none more than a day's drive from the busy corner of Douglas and Yates Streets. You could spend a lifetime holidaying on Vancouver Island and still return to it every year with fresh eagerness and delight.

THEY LIKE THE BUDGET

MISS AGNES MacPHAIL, A PROGRES-sive and the only woman member of the Canadian Parliament, says she objects to the Dunning budget because it is a vote-getting budget. The same cry is raised with an air of greater sanctity and still more alarm by leaders of the Conservative party. Their morality is affronted at the mere thought that the government should introduce a vote-getting budget—especially as they seem quite certain that the budget really will get votes.

Their expectations undoubtedly are correct and their alarm well founded, but to tell the people of Canada that they should reject the Dunning budget because it is a vote-getting budget is not impressive. What they really mean, of course, is that the people of Canada should not support the budget because this would defeat the Conservative party.

The feeble cry of vote-getting, however, is evidently going to be one of the chief arguments of the Conservative party in the coming campaign. Already The Toronto Mail and Empire, one of the high priests of Toryism, has been gathering interviews from prominent Conservative women in Toronto, who unite in saying that they like the budget reduction in tea prices, the assistance it gives agriculture and industry, the increased British Preference and the new countervailing duties. But one and all say they are going to work and vote for "The Grand Old Party" because the government is simply out for votes. The patriotism of women who will vote against their own welfare and greater empire trade, because they believe that measures to promote these things will bring votes to the government, is an inspiring spectacle. We do not believe the great mass of Canadians will be able to elevate themselves to such a pitch of devotion. They know the budget is not a political manoeuvre, but a scientific fiscal policy, based on several years of investigation by the Tariff Commission, and designed to meet the peculiar trade conditions of our time, particularly the new tariff of the United States.

In the budget the King government has crystallized the desire of the Canadian people to trade with those who want to trade with them, and to build up commerce with Great Britain. It has given the voters of the country a concrete policy embodying these aspirations—and a fearless leadership well able to achieve them. If this brings the government votes, as Conservative politicians fear, it will deserve them for its vision and courage.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE DESCENDANT
The Ohio State Journal

A man who used to retire in his house so suddenly that it was on its haunches now has a son who dashes up to a street intersection at thirty-five miles an hour, depending on four-wheel brakes and the kindly Providence that protects idiots to stop him in six feet.

THE DIVORCE BILL
The Toronto Telegram

For four years Parliament has been holding up the divorce bill asked by the Senate and now sponsored by Mr. Woodworth. The latter did not get action on the divorce bill till he fought his opponents with their own weapons. If he should do a little more fighting along the same lines who shall blame him? Every division on the divorce bill shows that a majority in Parliament is in favor of it. That being the case, the bill is being held back simply by blocking tactics.

NO RETALIATION
The Manitoba Free Press

The attitude of the United States towards Canada is one of unbecoming reality. It does not buy a single dollar's worth of goods in Canada for any other reason than this is the cheapest source of supply. It shuts off, without the slightest regard for Canadian feelings or interests, any market which may be built up for Canadian goods at the first sign of protest by a native interest. No business in Canada which is dependent upon a market in the United States is safe against the dislike of the United States people for imports not indispensable to them. Under these circumstances this country has no option but to seek for markets elsewhere to make up for those denied us south of the line; and if to open and hold these markets it is found desirable to buy directly from the countries which supply them, to the displacement of goods now sold us by the United States, the shift can be made on sound economic grounds without any charge of retaliation lying.

A THOUGHT

But he that slinneth against me wrongeth his own soul.—Proverbs viii 36.
Sin is essentially a departure from God.—Luther.

Loose Ends

The Tolmie Government shields itself from the sunset and feels depressed—President Hoover makes a blunder—and it rains on a spring evening.

By H. B. W.

THE TOLMIE GOVERNMENT has felt the sudden urge of spring, and the force of the spring sunshine streaming into its Executive Chamber, and it has sought to protect itself against both. According to the political correspondent of The Vancouver Province, who seems to have been making a personal investigation, the results are not satisfactory to all members of the Government. The six great west windows of the Executive Chamber, it is stated, have been curtained off to stop the rays of the sun, which in the past have dazzled the eyes of statesmanship, and to interrupt the views of the curious from the west wing. The curtains, while of excellent material, reflecting great credit on their makers, curiously brought gloomy thoughts to the Cabinet. According to the authority above quoted, one minister of state, on seeing the transformation of the Executive Chamber, averred that he was reminded of the under-labour's parlor. Another said it was more like the inside of an expensive coffin. And a third, wiser than his colleagues, is alleged to have warned the others not to speak so recklessly, for if the wicked Opposition heard of this gloomy comparison it would be sure to make some crack about the Government being already dead and buried.

ONE CAN sympathize with the ministers of state in their dilemma. It must be distressing, indeed, when you are serving the country, to be reminded constantly of your own political mortality. Instead of the rich but dull scheme of decoration provided, some lively red curtains to cheer the Cabinet up would seem to be more appropriate. After all, governments across James Bay often need cheering up even as much as the public. But perhaps the decorator, learned in the ways of politics, felt that the Cabinet would see red if they saw without where the under-labour's parlor. Anyway, the Tolmie Government can face the sunset now unafraid and with steady eye.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, it is announced, has permitted the members of his cabinet to join together in paying for the construction of two small cabins near the Presidential mountain camp on the Rapidan River, where Mr. Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald held their famous naval conference. The new cabins are designed to accommodate cabinet ministers when they wish to confer with the President privately at the weekend, free from the turmoil of Washington. Rapidan Camp thus is to become a kind of unofficial super-capital, where the larger issues of government will be discussed and decided. Apart from the tragedy of introducing politics into the serene beauty of the Virginian wilderness, this plan is a most unfortunate blunder which the President will soon regret.

UNDOUBTEDLY HIS motives are the best. He imagines that when he is standing up to his waist in cold water, wielding a fishing pole with one hand and clinging for life to a branch with the other, a man's mind is clear of petty things and he can cheerfully face problems which seem baffling back in the sweltering sun of Pennsylvania Avenue. This is a theory which has long ago disproved. They have found, on the contrary, that when they get out into the woods with a fishing pole, a gun or an axe, their minds are on higher things than the daily troubles of business or the manoeuvrings of politics.

IF PRESIDENT HOOVER is a human being he will discover as he wades the Rapidan or sits before the crackling logs of his own cutting that he simply cannot bring himself to discuss the business of the nation with his colleagues. The business of the nation will then be seen in true perspective, as a small, unimportant thing, compared with the best fly or the driest log. If he is human he will tell his colleagues to stay in their own cabins or, better still, he will ask them to establish their camps elsewhere. For no man is in a condition to deal with public or private business when there are fish to catch and wood to cut and the promise of a man-sized meal as the prize. His mind, then, is not attuned to the business of the United States. It is on loftier eternal things. The best hope of the United States is that it has a President who, at the weekend and anyway, has seen the true vision.

WITH "YOU" in the city, Tuesday rain, I suppose, was a mild inconvenience which dampened your socks or stockings on the way to the movies. With us in the country it was a benediction from on high. I write this in still raining, and if it will continue to do so all night the country will be saved; saved from what I am not quite sure, but assuredly saved.

TO WALK down a lane in Spanish on an evening like this, with a mild spring rain falling, is a joy which you will never understand if you are doomed to walk on the pavement. There has been just enough rain so far to lay the dust on the dirt road and it is soft and comfortable under foot. The fields on either side are green with lush grass a foot high, for the cows have not been turned in their to graze yet, and further over is the lighter, shorter green of winter wheat in long straight rows up the hillside to the thickets of firs and oaks, where you can see a blue band of canvas.

FURTHER ALONG, the road runs beside a flat, where there is a great pond in the winter. We skated there in February, and the stalks of the Chinaman's cabbage of last summer, which stuck up through the ice and caused many a spill, are there

THE SOCKEYE TREATY

To the Editor.—Your editorial in Monday's issue re the Sockeye Salmon Treaty apparently ignores the following facts:

Let us review the Sockeye Treaty and reverse the argument. The American contention that was that as the seals were pupped on the Aleutian Islands (American territory) this made them American property, and also considered marine life taken on the high seas was property of the worst kind. Salmon are spawned in Canadian streams. By the sealing argument, the salmon are ours, and by the sealing argument the salmon should be allowed to come back to their native rivers to be caught or spawned. What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander. But our fish returning to their native streams have year were fenced off by their return by about 850 American traps, 4,000 boats, 700 purse seines, 4,000 gill nets and 1,000 trolling lines and last year returned $400,000 to American fishermen, and they have taken $700,000,000 off the shore of Alaska. Our fish returning to their native streams have year were fenced off by their return by about 850 American traps, 4,000 boats, 700 purse seines, 4,000 gill nets and 1,000 trolling lines and last year returned $400,000 to American fishermen, and they have taken $700,000,000 off the shore of Alaska.

We watch the salmon in Canadian streams and then they are mostly caught in water. But others never should have had, but unfortunately they have. But why invoke their laws? They have no more right to catch our salmon coming back through their water than we had to catch their seals in our water.

Our salmon gave the Americans 3,000,000 cases last year, while we took 1,000,000 cases, and yet our government wants to give over to the care of foreign agents our salmon spawning grounds.

Can you feature the American navy escorting our sockeye salmon back to the Fraser River so as to prevent the American cannery men from taking our fish? Yet this is what the American navy was used for a few weeks ago in escorting the seals back to the American slaughter house so that the Canadian Indians and others could not hunt one of those seals in open water.

The seal herd is apparently not increasing very much. They reach the Aleutians and are there clubbed by the thousands and sent down to Prince to be made into coats, and to-day one may not wear a Canadian-made seal coat across the line, or it will be confiscated, so drastic and selfish are their regulations. Any seal coat found in the United States to-day must have the American Fur Company stamp on it.

Had old outposts been in power, as had we had in Canada politicians with backbone, the tale would have been different. But as it is in Canada last her sealing industry just like the salmon are fast following. The seal herd has not been increased because we refrained from killing, but the sea otter, one of the most beautiful furs in the world, has gone forever, exterminated by American greed and wanton slaughter.

And, further, why allow American fishermen privileges in our ports that they do not extend to our fishermen in their ports.

New Budget Tariff Scale On Vegetables and Fruit

Ottawa, May 21.—The dates within which the minimum specific duties against certain vegetables and fruits shall apply are fixed by amendments to the tariff schedule proposed in the House of Commons by Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance. The tabulation below gives the article affected, the dates inclusive when the minimum specific duties apply and the amount of the specific duties per pound.

Asparagus—April 15 to May 31, three cents.
Brussels Sprouts—Specific duty deleted.
Cabbage—June 15 to January 31, one cent.
Carrots and beets—June 1 to February 28, one cent.
Celery—July 1 to February 28, two cents.
Cucumbers—June 1 to October 31, one cent.
Lettuce—April 1 to October 31, one and one-half cents.

Parsley—Specific duty deleted.
Rhubarb—March 1 to May 31, one cent.
Spinach—May 1 to October 31, one cent.
Strawberries—June 1 to October 31, two cents.
Watercress—Specific duty deleted.
Apricots—June 15 to August 15, one cent.
Peaches—July 20 to October 1, one and one-quarter cents.
Pears—August 1 to December 31, three-quarter cent.
Plums and prunes—July 15 to October 31, three-quarter cent.
Loganberries—June 1 to July 31, three cents.
Muskmelons—July 20 to October 31, one and one-half cents.

Other amendments introduced by Dunning reduced the intermediate tariff from 20 to 15 per cent, and the general tariff from 25 per cent to 20 per cent on the following fruits: Apricots, cherries, apples, cantaloupes, muskmelons. Fresh fruits in their natural state not otherwise provided for.

It might be explained that the specific duties apply during the season indicated above if those duties are greater than the ad valorem duties which regularly apply to the commodities designated the year round.

PEACE RIVER CROP OFF TO FINE START

Edmonton, May 21.—With wheat seeding in the Peace River completed, except some districts north of the river, where excessive floods delayed the work, the north country correspondents of The Journal report the crop outlook there most optimistic. Moisture conditions are reported as ideal, the best in years.

Land brought under crop in the new districts has added to the acreage cultivated, with an average of 15 per cent increase reported.

While snow and heavy rains provided a fine start in the spring, frequent showers since have resulted in an abundance everywhere of moisture in both top and sub-soils.

Germination has been even, and growth very good, although slow because of the cool weather. A great deal of the country looks green, and some of the wheat is two to three inches high. Except in the latter districts referred to, sowing of coarse grains is well advanced.

The state of the soil under crop is in excellent cultivation with 20 per cent of the seed on land that was summer fallowed, 20 per cent on new breaking, and of the stubble land two-thirds was fall ploughed.

There is a general increase in wheat acreage reported, running to 25 and 30 per cent at Peace River and Beaver Lodge, with an average of 15 per cent more. Even with the large acreage of oats raised in some districts, such as Fehler, there is a swing to coarse grains with an average increase of 10 per cent reported.

A Matter of Good Taste***

Life Savers, Limited, Prescott, Ont.

Dear Sirs:

Some time ago I was not in the best of health and my Doctor prescribed a tonic.

Much as I needed its body building properties, the taste was extremely disagreeable and I simply could not get used to it. Then some-body suggested Life Savers.

This solved the difficulty. The delicious flavor of Life Savers quickly overcomes the taste of the tonic and now the "three times a day after meals" has lost all its former unpleasantness.

Because of this experience I feel I owe a debt of gratitude to Life Savers. They have been real "life savers" to me.

Yours faithfully,
Marie De Witt

DECIDE WINNERS OF "AD" CONTEST FOR KAYSER FIRM

First Prize in $3,800 Competition Won By Robert Simpson, Montreal, Co.

The winning advertisements in the $3,800 newspaper advertising contest, sponsored by Julius Kayser & Co. Limited, have been selected by the board of judges of prominent advertising executives, it was announced today. The first prize of $1,000 for the best advertisement of one-quarter page size and upward was awarded by the judges to the Robert Simpson, Montreal, Limited. Prize of $750 was awarded to Jas. A. Ogilvy's Limited, Montreal, and two prizes of $500 each to Anderson's Limited, St. Thomas, Ont., and J. L. Fortin Limited, Three Rivers, P. Q.

Robert Simpson, Montreal, Limited, won second prize of $400 in the one-eighth to one-quarter page group. A prize of $300 went to Donald D. Fraser, Stratford, Ont., and another $200 prize to John White Co., Woodstock, Ont. Ellis Hosiery Shop, Toronto, Ont., won a prize of $150 and Donald D. Fraser, Stratford, Ont., won a further prize of $100.

The contest, which officially ended May 1, was designed to produce the most outstanding newspaper advertisements of various sizes featuring Kayser Hosiery. According to the rules, all of the advertisements entered must have been published in the newspapers some time during the term of the contest. The contest produced between 300 and 400 entries and according to Miss Grace Walton, advertising manager of Julius Kayser & Co. Limited, who directed the contest, the task of the judges was made extremely difficult by the high calibre of the exhibits. Contrary to expectations, the entries for prizes in the second class for advertisements one-eighth to one-quarter page size exceeded in number that of the class for smaller advertisements. Cheques for the nine cash prizes ranging from $100 to $1,000 and totalling $3,800 have already been mailed to the winners. Miss Walton said, and many of them are planning to republish the prize winning ads in the newspapers.

The board of judges included Ernest C. Hastings, editor, Dry Goods Economist; Berwin Knauer, editor, Retail Review; T. Norman Williams, director of advertising, Minneapolis Journal; Mrs. Helen Law, chief of copy, R. H. Macy & Company; and A. J. Welch, Lord & Thomas and Logan.

"BIKE" FAILS TO GO OUT OF DATE WITH "OLD NAG"

More Bicycles Sold in Canada Last Year Than Ever Before

To the man on the street, who remembers the time when "bikes" were all the rage, it will probably come as a surprise to learn that more bicycles were made and sold in Canada last year than in any preceding twelve months in the last quarter of a century.

The advent of the automobile and its rapid rise in popularity, the "coming in" of the motorcycle and the "going out" of the horse, and the competition of new pastimes notwithstanding, the bicycle industry has gone steadily forward in Canada.

PRICES LOWER
In confirming the statement that more bicycles were manufactured and marketed in Canada in 1929 than in any previous year, Canada Cycle and Motor Company executives also point out that 1930 bicycle prices are the lowest for thirty years, despite consistently improving quality, season after season.

Price reduction has not been the cause of the growing popularity of the bicycle, but has been the result of this increase in the number of "bikes" purchased in Canada. As output has grown from year to year to meet an ever increasing demand, production costs have been lowered, and this saving has steadily cut down the price to the bicycle buyer.

ADVERTISING
In the opinion of the management of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company Limited, that firm's consistent adherence to a policy of newspaper advertising has been of the main factors in maintaining the healthy growth of the industry. By means of advertising messages, the safety, convenience, economy and healthfulness of cycling have been kept before the public, and these considerations have influenced more and more people to choose the bicycle as a means of easy, speedy, low-cost transportation. And all the indications are that the peak in the bicycle market is still a long distance off.

TOUR TO SOUTH BROUGHT CITY FINE PUBLICITY

George I. Warren Tells
Kiwanians of Recent Crusade
Tour to Southern California

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, yesterday reviewed before the Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon, at the Empress Hotel, the successful Pacific Coast crusade from north-western cities to Southern California. He stated that the excursion was participated in by hotelmen and publicity bureaus of the northwest. Stephen Jones, David Leeming and Mr. Warren being the representatives of Victoria. The object of the tour, which lasted two weeks, was to promote goodwill between communities and to iron out competition in attracting tourists.

Victoria was fortunate in having the only British Columbia car in the caravan until it arrived at San Francisco, and the city had thereby gained a preponderant share of the publicity.

WELL SUPPORTED
Enthusiastic support was given by Californian concerns. Mr. Warren citing provision by one oil company of a fully equipped service and repair car, which acted as rear-guard during the whole journey.

The numerous daily public functions were notable for exchange of speeches, and Mr. Warren told of the excellence of the new Redwood Highway, traversed by the party, which at no time included fewer than fourteen cars.

AIRPLANE REPORTS
The party was joined by the governor of Oregon and was provided with motorcycle police escorts by that state and California. He told of newly opened routes which are expected to derive the bulk of their patronage from tourists arriving and leaving by airplane.

An official welcome was extended by the city of San Francisco, where 178 army airplanes were put through maneuvers during the visit of the crusade. Southward from San Francisco, the party traveled by train, making side trips by motor buses.

From the viewpoint of Victoria the most pleasing event of the tour took place when en route home at San Francisco, after the crusade had disbanded, when the British Columbia delegates were honored at a special session of the City Council.

C. W. Pangman presented E. H. M. Foote with the A. E. Humphries golf trophy. Other awards in the club competition being made to V. Weston, A. V. King, Dr. G. E. Hazen and L. Tweedie.

An attendance prize given by H. M. Dixon was won by Frank Thomson, who held the largest balloon after A. Denny and J. McDowell had burst their more ambitious zeppelins.

The method of observing the annual International Kiwanis night and zero hour, which this year falls on June 30, will be the subject of a report by a special committee composed of H. M. Dixon, E. H. M. Foote and Kenneth Ferguson.

R-100 To Be In Touch With Land By Wireless

From the moment of leaving the base airfield at Cardington, England, until her triumphant arrival at St. Hubert Base, Montreal, the R-100 will be in constant communication with land by wireless.

Until the airship is about 2,000 miles out to sea, wireless communication with Cardington will be maintained. Beyond the 2,000-mile limit, as she nears Canada, Marconi wireless signals will link the R-100 with the Louisville, Nova Scotia, Marconi station, which operates day and night expressly for ships at sea.

Arriving at the Canadian coast the R-100 will communicate direct with the St. Hubert Tower-head.

All reports from Louisville will be received by the Canadian Marconi Company at Montreal through special direct C.B.S. and C.P.R. land wires. Messages thus received will be transmitted by teletype circuit to St. Hubert.

Direct Marconi beam wireless contact will be established between the Cardington and St. Hubert bases to provide accurate weather reports to the R-100 while in flight. These messages will travel by land wire to the central telegraph office at London, then by Marconi beam wireless to Montreal and to St. Hubert by teletype. By reverse action messages will be constantly exchanged between bases.

With such a well-planned wireless communication system at her disposal, the R-100 on her history-making trip will be able to avoid adverse weather situations and greatly minimize the possibility of accident.

MODEL FOR MODELS

Twelve hundred models posed, poised, pruned, paraded before cameras and judges throughout the United States. When it was all over a blonde, seventeen-year-old Jean Drummond, above, of New York, was chosen as "the most beautiful and most perfect model in America." Now she has an offer to go in a Broadway show and a contract with a Parisian modiste.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Maybe fur coats are laid up for the summer because they're worn out in the winter.

A natural balloon cloche has two strands at the front of the brim to lift it off the forehead. A green gingham band encircles the crown and edges the brim.

WAS NURSE UNDER FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

A link with Florence Nightingale, pioneer of the modern nurse, was severed with the death of Mrs. Hannah Troyer, widow of Christian Troyer, who passed away on May 16, aged eighty-two years, and whose funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. E. W. P. Carter officiated in the presence of several friends, and several beautiful floral tributes covered the casket. The remains were laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

The late Mrs. Troyer was a member of the nursing profession and as a young woman nursed under Florence Nightingale at Aldershot, English military headquarters. She was also an accomplished musician, and was a church organist for many years. Mrs. Troyer had been a resident of Victoria for over two years, coming to this city following the death of her husband at Winesboro, B.C.

SPANISH PALACE OF BEAUTIFUL AND CLEAN CITIES

Miss Agnew Tells Women's Canadian Club of Charms of That Country

Great Art Treasures in Palaces of Moors and Cathedrals; 400 Women Present

Colorful vignettes of "Spain" with its fascinating medieval palaces of the Moors, its magnificent cathedrals and its exquisite scenery and charming people, were presented by Miss Kathleen Agnew in her delightful travels given before about 400 members of the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon. Mrs. H. F. Crowe, first vice-president, was in the chair in the absence of Mrs. P. B. Scumham, the president.

CLEANSTOWN

Touching briefly upon her journey to Europe, Miss Agnew gave a fascinating impression of the island of Madeira, the centre of a pineapple growing industry, where she saw over 2,000 pineapple plants in one hot-house. Funchal, the capital city of Madeira, and Gibraltar, with its towering rock and British cruisers and airplane carriers in the harbor.

"Spain is the cleanest country I have ever set foot in," declared the speaker, as she described the constant washing of the streets carried on in Algiers, Malaga, and the other cities touched in her trip. Malaga, Granada, Seville and Cordoba are all part of Andalusia, once the stronghold of the Moors, and still bearing evidence of the Moorish occupation in the many of its palaces and other buildings. In this part of Spain, too, are still to be seen the ruins of the Moorish civilization, the Alhambra, the Alcazar, the Giralda, the tower of the Gambia, and the other primitive methods.

The Alhambra, the famous Moorish palace at Granada, was fascinatingly pictured by the speaker, who told of the exquisite tracery in marble and stonework in this former palace of the sultans. Even to-day its gardens are kept in perfect order and the humming birds dart in and out of the myriads of flowers.

CAVE-DWELLERS

Miss Agnew also described the extraordinary caves which extend for a long distance beneath the mountains and which are inhabited by gypsies. At Sacro Monte, the early Christians built their cathedrals and in the wonderful church, the caves are to be found pictures by Murillo, El Greco and other great artists.

In Seville, the cathedral contains among other art treasures gold chalices wrought by Benvenuto Cellini, the ashes of Christopher Columbus, preserved in a copper coffin. Portions of the old Roman wall still remain around Seville, of such a thickness that people still live within them in primitive dwelling places hewn out of the wall.

MOSQUE AT CORDOBA

Cordoba, another Andalusian city, was notable for the enormous mosque which was commenced in the eighth century. Its three immense domes are held up by 860 pillars, each a marvel of arabesque carving. At present, a series of Roman Catholic chapels are placed all around the main transept, but it is the intention of the authorities to remove these chapels and restore the mosque to its original beauty, Miss Agnew said.

According to an old Spanish proverb one sees Madrid, then heaven, then when one goes to heaven a pedlar hole is provided so that one may see Madrid, but, in the opinion of the speaker, this city has not the charm of the south. She described the Prado and the art gallery, with its magnificent pictures by great masters, including Goya, of whom it is stated that he used a brush, depending sometimes upon his thumb, sometimes upon the handle of a wooden spoon, or to other unconventional tools for his painting.

MAGNIFICENT ESCORT

The charm of Toledo came in for much praise by the speaker, who also told of the beauties of the Escorial, the massive church carved out of solid granite in which was contained the mausoleum of the royal house of Spain. Miss Agnew saw the room in which Philip of Spain, the builder of the mausoleum, lay during his last illness, with his glass door through which he could see the high altar as he lay dying.

In the cathedral of Toledo, which is reputed to be the oldest city in Europe, she saw a marvelous gown worn by the statue of the Virgin during certain church feast days, in which was sewn 50,000 real pearls as well as other priceless jewels.

The exposition at Barcelona was visited by the speaker, who told of her intense interest in the magnificent fighting of the thousands of fountains was the work of a young Canadian from Kingston, Ontario.

Miss Agnew was warmly thanked for her interesting talk by Mrs. E. C. Hayward, Mrs. Crowe presenting her with a beautiful bouquet of anthuriums on behalf of the club.

FESTIVAL WINNERS

The musical part of the programme was given by the young winners of the Women's Canadian Club Cup at the recent Musical Festival, Master Billy Ingalls, who sang two soprano solos; Miss Jean Craig, who sang piano solo, and Miss Dorothy Plumb, who ably accompanied Master Ingalls at the piano. These young people shared the highest marks in any class under thirteen years, and each will hold the trophy for four months.

Over 1,000 Kiddies, With Cadet Band, to Assemble in Parliament Square

Mrs. J. A. Macdonald to Place I.O.D.E. Wreath Upon Queen's Statue

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock at Parliament Square, the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., will hold its annual Empire Day memorial service for the school children and junior organizations of the city. The chapter congratulates itself upon the splendid co-operation it has always received from the Municipal Inspector of Schools, George H. Deane and the teachers, without whose support it would be almost impossible to arrange for this gathering of over 1,000 children for an annual service, which is one of the most inspiring features of the day's celebrations.

CADET BAND

On Friday morning the school children will be supported by the Sea Cadets, the High School Cadets, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Guides and the Cadet Battalion Band, which will accompany the singing. The majority of the school children have been chosen from the various school choirs, so that the singing promises to be unusually sweet, and will be under the able leadership of F. Waddington, supervisor of music in the city schools. (Geo. H. Deane will accompany the singing as cornetist; Principal W. H. Wilson of St. John's School will act as march leader, and H. Kipling will be in charge of the cadets.

ORDER OF SERVICE

The service will be as follows: "O Canada," "Land of Our Birth," prayer; Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D.: "O God Our Help in Ages Past," placing of floral tributes by children upon the base of Queen Victoria's monument; J. M. Campbell superintending the procession of children; God Save the King.

Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, wife of the Official Administrator for British Columbia, will place the wreath from the Municipal I.O.D.E. upon the monument, preceding the placing of the children's tributes.

Should the weather not permit of an outdoor gathering the service will be held in the Metropolitan Church, by permission of the church authorities.

Last Sacred Recital Held At St. Andrew's

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, the last of the series of sacred recitals sponsored by the choir took place. A very interesting programme was prepared on which three young artists were presented for their first public appearance, and judging by the many favorable comments, gave much pleasure to the audience.

Miss Jessie McKenna, an earnest student of the pipe organ, played three selections very charmingly, two of them having piano accompaniments played by Jesse A. Longfield. Miss Dorothy Bishop, possessor of a beautiful contralto voice, showed much promise in her rendering of Gounod's "Ensemble Me Not To Leave Thee," and Dvorak's "Going Home," while Miss Muriel Pottinger, soprano in her numbers, "I Will Extol Thee," by Costa, and "On Life's Highway," (Bertrand Brown), showed a voice of splendid range.

A. W. Trevett sang "Lord God of Abraham" (Mendelssohn) and "Like as the Hart," (Albritten) in his usual smooth and finished style, and James Monop completed the programme of excellent merit with his fine playing of the cornet selections, "The Lost Chord," (Sullivan) and (Handel's) "Largo." The soloists were all efficiently accompanied on the organ by J. A. Longfield. At the conclusion of the recital each lady was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

W.B.A. Review—The regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., was held in the K. of C. Hall, Government Street, on Monday evening with the president, Mrs. Ricketts, in the chair. A letter of appreciation was received from the Provincial Deputy, Mrs. C. M. O'Brien of Vancouver, for the large delegation that attended the Vancouver rally and the splendid work performed by the guard team. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded President Mrs. Ricketts for her able work. The captain of the guard team, Miss Reid, received a present and bouquet of red and white carnations in appreciation of her untiring efforts to perfect the guard work. The memorial service this year will be held on Sunday, June 15, in the K. of C. Hall. Further arrangements will be made later. In honor of the birthday of the Supreme President, Mrs. Bina West Miller, a social was arranged after the business programme. The contest winners were Mrs. J. Taylor and Mrs. G. Bowden. Prizes were also presented to the oldest and youngest mothers present, Mrs. Campbell winning the former and Mrs. Gilbert, the latter. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bowden, Mrs. Ricketts, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Reid and Mrs. Laxton.

LET THE NEIGHBORS HAVE

In every community, in fact in almost every household, there are self-appointed critics who take upon themselves the burden of sweeping in front of every door but their own. They are those who always manage to point out some fault in the management, feeding or general care of every child except their own.

Many times these critics have no children of their own, but their interest in the neighbors' children is in no way stifled. Indeed, "Now if that were my child!" is the second sentence of their daily outbursts. Sensitive mothers are harassed by these articulate gossips even if they do not follow their advice. Life is always simpler for any of us when we know our actions are applauded. Mrs. F. H. has a neighborhood situation complicated a thousand times in every city. She writes: "My husband and I are faithful readers of your column. Will you give us the benefit of your experience in the following case: We live on a main thoroughfare and as our home is always used for business purposes it is impractical for us to move. We have a boy of two and a girl of six months. What yard we have cannot be fenced in, and in order to let Jim play safely in the air and sunshine it is necessary to let him up. "I do all my own work and I cannot watch him constantly. I tried cautioning him about not going on the street, but I was aroused one day by grunting of brakes and the tooting of horns to the knowledge that a two-year-old cannot be trusted. He has a harness and I fasten a rope to him that will allow him to go as far as he could go safely if he were not tied. As first he objected strenuously but I have talked with him and explained the reason and he has become reconciled to the idea.

"Nevertheless, it seems that we can't consider ourselves. There are some persons who think it terrible to tie him up. I have even heard of humane societies taking a hand in such a matter. We don't feel that this is wrong but we want your opinion. Our babies are very dear to us and their welfare is our only consideration."

The type of tying up to which humane societies object is quite different. Mrs. F. H. "There are persons who are cruel enough to tie children all day to bed posts, then go away and leave them to scream or starve or exist as best they may. The two things are not to be compared, and I thoroughly approve of using this safe and harmless method of keeping a small child in the yard. We have to be responsible for these toys and while this should not be overdone so that he never learns caution, it is a good method if you can't watch him. I think it far less cruel than making a child of this age responsible for his behavior and then beating him if he runs away. Let the neighbors rave.

CHURCH WOMEN HEAR PRESIDENT

Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee, Head of Dominion W.A., Tells of Mission Work

Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee, president of the Dominion board of the Women's Auxiliary Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, was given a cordial welcome by a largely attended gathering at St. John's schoolroom, yesterday evening, every city branch of the W.A. being well represented, and several visitors present.

Canon F. A. P. Chadwick was in the chair, and paid a high tribute to the valuable work done under Mrs. Ferrabee's guiding hand, as well as those of her predecessors in office, by the Women's Auxiliary, in inculcating the spirit of true missionary endeavor through the length and breadth of the land.

TRIBUTE TO WORKERS
In acknowledging the kind greeting accorded to her, Mrs. Ferrabee attributed the success that has been apparent in the work to the prayers and wholehearted support of her co-workers, and paid a special tribute to the small bands of workers who, in isolated parishes, carry on so faithfully and steadfastly, supporting the Dominion Board.

In a masterly way, Mrs. Ferrabee surveyed the field covered by W.A. missionaries, drawing from a deep fund of knowledge and experience the descriptions of the various missions in Canada, among the Indians, white settlers, Eskimos, Orientals and Jews, and following the work being done in Japan, China, and in India.

CHRISTIAN PRISON
Outstanding has been the work of the Canadian bishops in Japan and China in establishing, on firm foundations, a native Holy Catholic Church, which is even now fitted to carry on the work of Christ's Kingdom, and Mrs. Ferrabee expressed the hope that Bishop White's plan to send the Catholic Bishop of Honan to the Lambeth Conference in place of going himself, will be carried out, as he will thus be the first bishop of the Catholic Church of China to take part in an Episcopal Conference in England.

The speaker emphasized the value of the educational and medical work being done, especially in India where medical missions carry on innumerable enterprises, that the world may be won for Christ.

INFORMAL RECEPTION
Mrs. James Dickson, Diocesan President of Columbia W.A., on behalf of all present thanked Mrs. Ferrabee for her inspiring and instructive address, and expressed appreciation of the favor conferred on this diocese by her presence at the meeting.

Following the benediction, pronounced by Canon Chadwick, members had the opportunity of a personal introduction to Mrs. Ferrabee, while refreshments were served by a committee of St. John's W.A. Branch, under the President, Mrs. Kirk, and a pleasant social hour spent.

It is expected that Dr. Beachcroft will begin some of the preliminary examining in Vancouver about June 8, but the general work will not start until the following week. He, together with Messrs. Bryan and Elliott, will do most of the work in Vancouver, New Westminster, and the Fraser Valley. Mr. Bryan coming on here after doing the Upper Country examinations. Dr. Thatcher and Dr. Ewleigh will take the work in Victoria and the Island, and the examinations are expected to be over by about July 5.

FRIENDLY HELP RECEIVES $292 FROM CARNIVAL

Proceeds from the Conklin & Garfield Circus for the Equimount Friendly Help this year will amount to approximately $292. It was learned from the statement given by Mrs. J. T. Jones to Rev. Elrick of Equimount, today, that the sum total just $10 more than the gate receipts during the week. In view of the fact that no charge could be made legally at the circus, since the entrance to the different shows lay in Bullen's Park, the amount virtually constituted a collection of voluntary donations from those who attended the function.

In all, the Friendly Help secured $688 from the circus. Of this $292 was spent in power and lighting, $175 in labor and $65 in extra police supervision. It was felt that the lack of two of the circus's main rides as well as side shows, for which there was not sufficient space, was partially the cause of the small returns this year from the circus. A section of the municipality was also opposed to the circus.

The automobile speed record in 1928 was about sixty-nine miles an hour.

Your Breakfast Shot from Guns

so you don't have to cook it

Read how this amazing invention gives Puffed Grains the virtual nourishment of hot cooked cereals.

WHEN Professor Anderson found the way to shoot wheat and rice grains from guns he solved an important problem. He gave these crisp, delicious, ready-to-eat cereals the virtual nourishment of hot cooked cereals.

Every grain of wheat and rice contains 125 million food cells. Every food cell must be broken before the grain can be completely digestible. It takes long hours of cooking to do this. But Professor Anderson found a better way. He seals grains of wheat and rice in bronze guns. Revolves them in fiery ovens. Then fires the guns. This causes 125 million explosions in every grain. It blasts open every tiny food cell. Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are thus made completely digestible. Hence practically as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

The grains become 8 times normal size. They have all the buttery crunchiness of fresh toast. They are made to taste like sweet new nut-meats. Never before was rich grain nourishment made so deliciously good to eat.

You owe it to your family to give them this extra delicious grain food that tastes like nut goodies. Order Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice from your grocer today. The Quaker Oats Company.

Team to Perform Here June 9 Has Brilliant Record

Miracles of Sport

By Robert Edgren

Eddie Tolan Is Now Recognized As King Of World Sprinters

THE SOCKER in the ring is always dangerous. The fancy, scientific boxer can pile up a big left-right or nine rounds and then be defeated by a single solid wallop on a vital spot. Early on the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling bout at the Yankee Stadium in New York next month seems in the Bostonian's favor. Perhaps patriotism in the U.S. has something to do with making Sharkey the favorite, but veteran followers of the ring are displaying plenty of respect for the German.

Anyone who can hit as hard as Max is deserving of serious consideration. Some critics say Schmeling can hit as hard as Sharkey, which for knockout purposes one hand is usually sufficient. The German's devastating right was more than enough to send Johnny Kisko to sleep, the first time the Cleveland rubber man had been so handled.

Sharkey has always shown great esteem for hard hitters. The former Gipper has seldom displayed any liking for opponents who rock 'em when they sock. Sharkey's own ideal opponent is the Phil Scott model. If Schmeling starts to aggressively and carries the fight to Sharkey, then the Boston Gipper is not likely to be at his best. He never has been under similar conditions. Schmeling not only possesses considerable Dempsey's facial expression but also fights in the same bang style of the former champion.

There is some doubt whether Schmeling will not be severely affected after a year's lay-off from fighting. The German says he will be better than ever—that he worked faithfully during his sojourn in Germany. Maybe so, but the best way for fighters to get in trim is by actual competition in the ring and not by synthetic drills in gyms.

Only the bout itself will determine Schmeling's real physical condition. Outward appearances are too misleading. Dempsey himself furnished a costly illustration when he was for his first battle with Gene Tunney at Philadelphia. In those Atlantic City workouts Dempsey looked in magnificent condition, but was more of the well-known hollow shell after going a few rounds with the ex-marine.

Schmeling is quite frank about his chances with Sharkey, which is another Dempsey characteristic. Max insists his left hand is much more than an ornament; that he plans to beat Sharkey with it. "My right hand will probably be Jack down," reasons the German whose command of English has improved wonderfully since his last visit to the United States, "but the left will probably land the winning blow if I am the victor."

The big league baseball season is little more than a month old and already a lively battle is being waged about the lively ball. John McGraw says the lively ball threatens to ruin the game because the pitchers are more and more at the mercy of the batters.

Babe Ruth takes the other side of the debate. The King of Swat says he fails to see any difference in the type of ball. Perhaps the Babe is a wee bit prejudiced because his $30,000 yearly salary is based chiefly on his ability to knock out home runs. And it would not add to Ruth's fame if it is generally accepted that the balls are unfair help to batters.

The United States this year will try to win back the Davis Cup from France with a bunch of kids. The team that has been picked and defeated Canada in the first round, averages only twenty-four years. The job seems too big for the youngsters this season, but in about two years more these same youngsters should be able to hold their own with the best of them. France is expected to again win the trophy this year.

Charlie Conacher Out of Hospital After Operation

Toronto, May 21.—After nearly a month in hospital, during which he underwent an operation for removal of a kidney, Charlie Conacher, youthful right-wing player of the Toronto Maple Leafs, National Hockey League team, was taken home yesterday afternoon, not fully recovered, but feeling much better than before the operation was decided upon.

Young Conacher, in the opinion of the attending physicians, has made a remarkable recovery. Whether the operation will have any effect on his hockey playing is something that will be decided only when the N.H.L. season rolls around.

In the history of British football, no name is more famous than that of the Glasgow Rangers, whose visit to Canada this year makes an epoch in the game's history.

The Rangers were joint champions with Dumbarton in the foundation season of the Scottish League. Since that time the Rangers have won the championship on seventeen occasions.

Benny Leonard Is Working Out With Boston Gob

Orangeburg, N.Y., May 21.—An old-timer, Benny Leonard, the retired lightweight champion, volunteered as a sparring partner for Jack Sharkey yesterday and got his nose nicely reddened with left jab in a one-round bout. Leonard still had much of his old skill for a round, but was easily outboxed by the Bostonian.

Leonard plans to box with Sharkey for a week.

ATHLETES WILL GET NO RETURN FOR LOST TIME

Amateur Athletic Union Officials Veto Plan to Provide Compensation

U.S. Attempt to Have Starting Blocks Recognized Is Badly Defeated

Berlin, May 21.—A debate on the amateur question was the feature of yesterday's meeting of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, and found Finland, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland lined up in favor of compensating athletes for lost wages during the Olympic games. Opposed to this proposal were eighteen delegations, with another abstaining from any vote.

Great Britain's delegates proposed a drastic ruling, to the effect that "no competitor who received payment or compensation for lost salary, directly or indirectly, or in any guise whatsoever, shall be permitted to participate in the Olympic games."

Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, pointed out that if "broken time" were granted to the workers, what was to be done in the case of men of wealth? Gustavus T. Kirby, of New York, insisted the amateur status must be strictly maintained.

After the Finnish-Dutch proposal for compensation had been defeated, the British agreed to withdraw their proposal.

A German proposal that records made with a favorable wind of more than two metres per second should not receive international recognition, was referred back to the Germans with a request they assemble more data on the question.

HAI: STARTING BLOCKS.—An American attempt to have starting blocks recognized failed by a large majority, despite the plea of Murray Halbert for their sanction.

Joseph B. McCabe, of Boston, succeeded in having the matter referred to the executive committee. The delegates seemed to feel that the starting blocks must be given a more thorough trial before they can be internationally approved.

Proposals that a 6,000-metre relay race and fifteen-kilometre weight throw be introduced into the Olympic games were defeated.

Sammy Baker Is Given Decision

Cleveland, May 21.—Sammy Baker, New York welterweight, won a ten-round decision over Paul Pirrone of Cleveland, yesterday. Frank Simms, Cleveland heavyweight, knocked out Leo Sandvina, of New York, in the eighth round of a ten-round bout.

Sarpolis Wins From Bob Kruse In Tacoma Ring

Tacoma, May 21.—Dr. Earl Sarpolis, Cleveland heavyweight, won from Bob Kruse, Portland, in the main event of the wrestling programme here yesterday evening, gaining the lone fall of the encounter in the sixth round with a flying scissors.

The Rangers hold a unique record so far as British football is concerned in obtaining maximum points in the league of 1898-9.

In the season of 1920-21 the Rangers played forty-two league games, and were only once defeated. The Rangers will play in Victoria on Monday, June 9, against a local "rep" team.

Last season the Rangers achieved the unique distinction of a dual championship, viz., the winning of the Scottish League, a feat which is a sign of consistency, and also the winning of the Scottish Cup which indicates that the Rangers are great money players, and can rise to every occasion.

It was thought that the Rangers had reached the pinnacle of fame in winning both the Scottish League championship and the Scottish Cup in 1927-8. They almost repeated this feat last year, 1928-9, when they again won the Scottish League championship, but were defeated in the final for the Scottish Cup with a team that was headed by the loss of the famous Andrew Cunningham. In the season just ended they have again achieved the ultimate by winning both the Scottish League championship and also the Scottish Cup after two stirring games with Partick Thistle.

In these two first games played only four days apart there were about 100,000 spectators at each game.

The Glasgow Rangers Club are carrying a party of twenty on the present tour, including their entire cup-winning team and the most capable of their substitutes.

The players will be under the personal direction of William Struth, the manager of the club, who will have with him the regular club trainer.

EXPERIENCE AND YOUTH.—The team combines experience and youth and the Rangers Club can be relied upon to treat the soccer lovers of the city in every department.

The following are some pen pictures of the regulars who will be in the party: Tom Hamilton, goal-keeper, height 6 feet, weight 175 pounds, a native of Renfrew, packs a hefty kick and his clearances from goal are outstanding among Scottish goal-keepers. His sure-footedness in the corner halves are remarkable. Enjoys an outstanding reputation as a goal-keeper who is extremely hard to beat.

Douglas Gray, fullback, height five feet eight inches, weight 155 pounds. A native of Aberdeen. This lad gives every promise of being the outstanding fullback in Scotland. He has been with the Rangers since 1925, and is not only a clever tactician, but also a stylist who is continuously developing his game in every department.

Robert McDermott, right halfback, height 5 feet 6 inches, weight 140 pounds, and does not, overlook his forwards. A Scottish International.

Robert Hamilton, fullback, height six feet, weight 170 pounds. An Irishman by birth, proceeding to Glasgow from Ulster in March, 1927. This youngster is as strong as a cat, kicks with fine length and speed to boot, and is especially effective on heavy grounds. He has represented Ireland against Scotland on a number of occasions.

Robert McDermott, right halfback, well-known in Canada and the United States, where he started to play soccer as a junior in Hamilton, Ont. Known and admired as "Whitey," McDermott played for a number of years with Bethlehem Steel and was induced to join the Rangers in 1925.

LOCAL BOXERS WORKING OUT

Fielding, Keist, Hay and Others Getting Into Shape For Friday Night's Card

Jimmy Beck, colored Tacoma lightweight, who will meet Tommy Fielding, local cauliflower artist, in the ten-round main event of the Central Boxing Club's first show at the Pullman gymnasium, Friday night, is no stranger to Victoria fans. Beck, it will be remembered, appeared at the same gymnasium on two previous occasions, once against the hard-hitting Jack Peterson, the other local glove thrower, and once against Benny Wendall of Bellingham. Beck has been fighting in different coast cities for many years and is a good performer.

Wing Hay, fighting Chinese, who has come to the front fast, is training hard for his six-round semi-windup mix with Ray Archer, Tacoma. With two straight knockout victories to his credit here, Hay looks forward to making Friday night's mix his third knockout victory in a local ring. Fast, clever and packing a nasty punch, the flashy Hay promises to give Archer a great battle.

Rid McKay, Tim Keist and Danny Pascoe, the other local glove throwers on the card, are training nightly for the show, which will be the first here in many weeks.

The wind-up meeting of the Junior Football League will be held to-night at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 o'clock. All teams are requested to have delegates in attendance.

I.A.A.U. Want Women's Track and Field Events To Remain In Olympics

Berlin, May 21.—Strong pressure in favor of the continuance of women's Olympic track and field events in the 1932 games at Los Angeles was brought to bear today by the International Amateur Athletic Federation in session here.

Unless the women are allowed to compete, the world's male athletes as represented in the I.A.A.U. will adopt a policy of non-co-operation in regard to the Olympics, it was indicated.

A resolution proposed by Gustavus T. Kirby, of New York, was adopted by the Federation at its closing session to-day which provides that the I.A.A.U. shall remain in recess, ready to be called together should the Olympic congress, convening next week, decide to eliminate the women's track and field events.

EAGLES WILL OPPOSE SONS

Senior League Ball Teams Hook Up To-night; Vancouver Club Here on May 24

With Cann and Lidston as the opposing pitchers the Sons of Canada and Eagles will meet to-night at the Royal Athletic Park in a Senior Amateur Baseball League fixture. The teams will start play at 6.15 o'clock, providing the weather man behaves himself.

The Sons will be out to gain revenge for the 13-3 defeat they suffered at the hands of the Eagles in their last meeting. Fresh from their victory last week over the league leading Jokers the Sons are slight favorites to win.

On May 24 the Jokers and Sons of Canada will engage in two exhibition games at the Royal Athletic Park. The Sons will play in the afternoon game at 3.15 o'clock, and the Jokers in the evening fixture at 6.15 o'clock.

SOFTBALL

The Times titular aspirations in the Westhollow Softball League received its first serious check yesterday evening, when the Jokers, last season's champions, walked over them to hang up a 16-5 victory at Victoria West Park. The newbies tried hard, but failed to meet the finished play of last year's pennant holders.

In the other feature game of the evening, the Y.M.C.A. sent Moore and Wittington down to a 9-7 defeat at Oak Bay Park. As a result of this defeat, the Jokers and Y.M.C.A. are tied at the top of the loop.

At the Willows, the Colwood Wood squad handed The Colonist a 14-8 defeat, to leave the paperman sole occupants of the cellar.

In the Victoria and District League, Samson Thistles whitewashed the North Saanich Service Club, 19, the wife of 11-0 at the latter's home ground. Flimley and Ritchie defeated Parfitt Brothers 25-4 in the other "A" section fixture.

The "C" division game between the J.B.A.A. and the Navy "B" squad scheduled to be played to-morrow evening has been postponed indefinitely.

University of Michigan Runner's Time of 9.5 For The 100 Yards Accepted As World Record By International Amateur Athletic Federation; Little Negro Also Credited With Equaling Paddock's Mark For 100 Metres; Sixteen New World's Records Are Recognized.

Canadian Press

Berlin, May 21.—Eddie Tolan, negro sprinter of the University of Michigan, was officially recognized yesterday as the world's record holder for the 100-yard dash and the first sprinter in history to cover the distance in less than 9.6 in a well authenticated run without starting blocks.

The little bespectacled Michigan student was clocked at 9.5 in the western conference championships at Evanston, Illinois, May 25, 1929. This performance was accepted by the International Amateur Athletic Federation to-day as the official world record.

Tolan's time, made in a memorable race in which he defeated among others, George Shuman of Ohio State, superseded the 9.6 which several sprinters were able to equal but never beat officially in the long history of the sport.

Charles Paddock turned in a 9.5, but did not approve of tenth-second watches then. A 9.4 performance by Frank Wyckoff, California, was too recent for authentication to the meeting of the international body.

Four other records by Americans were accepted by the federation at its session yesterday by the application of Simpson for approval of his 9.4 mark last year was denied because starting blocks were used.

SIXTEEN NEW MARKS.—Sixteen new world marks were inscribed upon the record-books as the federation considered for the first time the great performance registered in 1928 and in the period since then.

The four records set down to the credit of Americans in addition to Tolan's 9.5 were:

Forty-seven seconds for the 400-meter run by Emerson Spencer, former Stanford track captain.

One-hundred-and-three feet, eight and three-quarter inches for the discus throw by Eric Krens of Stanford.

Fourteen feet, one and one-half inches for the pole vault by Les Barney, former star of the University of Southern California athlete.

Three minutes thirteen and four-tenths seconds for the one-mile relay by an American Olympic quartet consisting of George Baird, Morgan Taylor, Ray Barbuti and Emerson Spencer in a dual met with Britain after the last Olympics.

Tolan was also credited with having equaled Paddock's 10.4 for the 100-meter dash on two occasions in his European tour last year. De Hart Hubbard, former Michigan negro star, was added to the list as having done 9.8 for the 100-yard event.

American league for world recognition for the broad jump mark in the national championships of 1928 by Ed. Barker of Georgia Tech were dashed when it was shown that Silvio Cator of Haiti had beaten the mark by an inch with a jump of twenty-six feet, one eighth inch in a post-Olympic meet in Paris. Hannu's best was twenty-five feet, eleven and one-eighth. In the Olympic broad jump championship Hannu was first with Cator a good second.

Paavo Nurmi added to his store of immortality in the record book with several "fine" performances recognized among them a ten-mile running record that displaces a twenty-six-year-old figure set by Alf Shrubbs, the old British star.

London, May 31.—A full team of wrestlers was selected yesterday to represent Britain in an eight-day tour of Canada to be held in Hamilton, Ontario, next August.

The British team will consist of: Fred Aspinall, Bryant, featherweight; H. Angus, lightweight; H. Johnson, welter; S. Bissell, middleweight; O. Oakley, heavyweight, and S. Sangle, heavyweight.

First of British Cruisers From Bermuda Base Due Here June 2

Bringing naval stores for the British light cruiser Dauntless, which is expected here early next month from the British West Indies, the motorship Pacific President of the Furness Pacific Line, made quarantine at 10 o'clock this morning from Manchester, Eng.

By the noon hour the Pacific President was moored alongside the coaling wharf in Esquimalt harbor, and at 1 o'clock she commenced discharging the navy freight. The ship has aboard about 1,000 tons

RED POWER NOT BROKEN

Chinese Communists Gain
Headway Despite Recent Raids

Amoy, China, May 21.—Despite the recent anti-Communist raids here, authorities, both foreign and Chinese, today expressed the belief that the red power had not been broken.

Because of the Nationalist Government's inability to launch a strong anti-Communist campaign after the raids had disclosed many alleged secrets of the reds, local authorities believe Communist activity will continue to expand throughout Fukien Province.

It is widely feared that the independent military group in northern Fukien will renounce its long service allegiance to the Nanking regime and openly join forces with the Communists of Kiangsi Province. In the event of such a development, Nationalist authority in Chekiang Province, which is none too strong, would be gravely threatened. Amoy authorities are endeavoring to continue their campaign against the Communists locally and further raids are expected.

SENATE APPROVES OF BILL AIMED AT LIQUOR RUN- NING

Opening the debate, Senator J. D. Taylor, New Westminster, criticized the purposes lying behind the Liquor Clearance Bill. He asked whether it might not be considered solely as a vote catching device and as a harmless measure against liquor interests of the country.

There had been a clamor in the Liberal caucus when the proposal to introduce the bill was laid before the members, he declared. He wondered why this had been silenced in the debate in the Commons.

WOULD KILL BILL

Senator Taylor renewed the claim that the bill would not stop the flow of liquor from Canada to the United States. It would divert it to St. Pierre and Miquelon, the two French dependencies off the coast of Newfoundland and Cuba, where already large capacities for handling the trade had been set up. This would be merely a "convenient detour" and would result in a loss of excise for Canada. A further result would be that the export business of British Columbia, at present the source of that province, would be shifted to the St. Lawrence, he declared.

The bill would be killed, the senator said in conclusion. As an alternative, it should come into effect when an offer of reciprocal anti-smuggling is advanced by United States.

Sir George Foster favored the bill and in announcing his attitude traced some of the history of the international flow of liquor between United States and Canada.

Canada, Sir George went on, has been accused of being officially over-neighborly with United States in regard to the control of the liquor traffic. For instance, it was charged that Canada had taken all the steps leading to this legislation. With this, he did not agree. Both Canada and Great Britain, at the request of United States, had agreed to the widening of the internationally-accepted twelve-mile limit by sea and other concessions dealing with the right to search vessels of Canadian and British registry, had been granted at the request of United States.

MEXICO HAS TREATY

Mexico had passed a treaty with United States prohibiting the exportation of liquor to that country as early as 1905. It was in effect until 1927 when the United States abrogated it because of its terms concerning the exportation of arms. Cuba had a similar treaty with United States, but had never been ratified.

"There is good will being shown in this matter by some of the important nations," Sir George declared. He could see no reason why Canada should not do likewise.

Sir George could not understand hard-headed business men and representatives of labor entering the lists to champion the distiller and the brewer. "That ancient and honorable trade," the making of alcoholic liquors, "since the days of Noah, down to the present time that industry has not been the friend of any other industry in the wide world. It is the inevitable ravager and enemy of every other industry."

Senator Tanner reminded the House that Hon. W. H. Miller, Minister of National Revenue, opposed the principle of the bill when it was discussed in the Commons in 1929. He had no reason to believe the minister had changed his opinion. The bill's enforcement would be under the Minister of National Revenue, whom he considered, was unsympathetic toward it and who had said it was impractical and unenforceable.

"FALLING REVENUES"

"What is Canada getting in return for this legislation? Absolutely nothing," Senator Tanner declared. There had been no agitation for it from the United States and none from the people of Canada. It would result in falling excise revenues for Canada of about $15,000,000.

If Canada were consistent in wishing to stop the flow of liquor to United States it should prohibit the exportation of it to the British West Indies. Senator Tanner contended. Last year liquor valued at over $3,000,000 was exported there, practically all of which, he said, found its way into the United States.

FAIR WAGE BILL

On the bill respecting fair wages and an eight-hour day for labor employed on public works of the Dominion of Canada, Senator Belcourt read a letter from the justice department in reference to the application of this bill to the Canadian National Railways and he said the justice department held that this bill applied to construction on government railways, but not on Canadian National Railways. There was considerable difference of opinion after the interpretation of the letter and it was finally decided to send the bill to the railway committee to permit of opinions being secured from those interested in its application.

FINE VARIETY ENTERTAINMENT AT MAHON HALL

Large Audience Enjoyed
Notable Performance at Ganges

Special to The Times
Ganges, May 21.—A well-attended variety entertainment and dance was held in the Mahon Hall, Ganges, on Friday evening, May 16, under the auspices of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, Ganges Chapter. The programme was arranged and directed by Mrs. Andrew J. Smith of Ganges. The proceeds will go to the funds of the May Scout, Girl Guide, Brownie and Wolf Cub troops. The opening chorus, "Happy Days Are Here Again," was rendered by Mesdames Elliott, Rochfort, Mitchell and Roberts, the Misses Lois, Shirley and Clara Wilson, Doreen Crofton, Betty Halley, Nancy Elliott and Mabel Harris, and V. Chase Morris, C. F. Roberts, V. C. Best, L. Nicholls and E. Butterfield.

A sketch was given by Miss Wendy Benson and Master Donald Corbett. Mademoiselle Wanda de Turczynowicz gave a solo dance, and Mrs. C. Loyard rendered violin solos, accompanied by Mrs. Scoones of Galiano Island, who later sang, contralto, solo and duet with Mr. Scoones. Eight ladies took part in a minuet, those dancing being Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Mitchell and the Misses Lois and Shirley Wilson, Doreen Crofton, Mabel Harris and Claire Wilson. K. G. Halley's comic songs created much laughter. Mrs. D'Oyley Rochfort gave two numbers, much applause greeting, "In the Park,"

B.C. COUGAR SKIN PRESENTED TO ROYAL SCOTS

Lieutenant-Governor Bruce presented the cougar skin rug shown in the above picture to the Royal Scots Regiment at Aldershot on May 4, during his visit to the Old Country for the wedding of his niece, Miss Helen Mackenzie. Among those in the front row of the picture are: Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P., North Vancouver; F. A. Pauline, Agent-General for British Columbia; His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor; Lieutenant-General Sir E. Altham; Lieutenant-Colonel N. H. S. Fergus and other officers of the First Royal Scots.

with its yodelling chorus and male voice accompaniment. During the interval Scoutmaster Col. Heppenshall of Duncan was introduced by W. K. Scott, who said the colonel was present on behalf of the Boy Scout movement from its inception and its aims and objects, and said everybody should start by being a Wolf Cub, passing on to the Boy Scouts and graduate into the "Rovers" which accept young men from eighteen years to twenty-four.

Mrs. Andrew Smith was then presented with a bouquet of pink Malmesbury carnations and blue delphinium.

Scenes from "Rio Rita" followed, in which all of company were on the stage, solo dancers being Miss Lois Wilson and C. F. Roberts. This was followed by a comic sketch in which the principal actors were Mrs. N. Wilson, Mrs. V. Harvey, Mrs. Elliott, Capt. Best and K. Butterfield. The concluding item was a tableau, Boy Scouts forming the background, Girl Guides the centre, Wolf Cubs and Brownies forming the wings, and Mrs. Scoones as Britannia, who sang "Land of Hope and Glory" and "Rise Britannia." The audience joining in the choruses. The National Anthem brought to a close one of the most successful entertainments ever held on Salt Spring Island.

Dancing to the strains of Hague's orchestra was kept up until 2 a.m., supper being served at intervals during the dancing.

rived, which requires a heavier and warmer type of house.

With the aid of the plans, specifications and other information afforded by the bulletin, the practical farmer or poultryman will have no difficulty in erecting a thoroughly satisfactory designed and fully equipped plant, and he will also have the best expert advice as to the location and maintenance of the poultry buildings, yards and runs.

FIVE IN SCOTCH ELECTION FIGHT

Colorful Communist Among Those Seeking Shettleston Seat

Canadian Press Cable

Glasgow, May 21.—Scotland will see what promises to be its most interesting election fight in years in the Shettleston division of Glasgow, rendered vacant by the recent death of the Rt. Hon. John Wheatley, Labor member.

There will probably be five candidates, the Conservative and the regular Labor nominee, two communists and a Scottish Nationalist. So far there has been no hint of a Liberal appearance.

The Conservative candidate has been nominated. He is W. F. Templeton, a wood-turner by trade and a staunch adherent of the Conservative safeguarding and Empire free trade policy. Mr. Templeton was the member for Banffshire from 1924 to 1929, and has a strong appeal as a workingman's candidate.

Labor has not chosen its man yet, suffering from an embarrassing number of aspirants to the Wheatley mantle. The Nationalists have adopted John M. McArthur. An independent communist, Guy Aldred, is already in the field, but most picturesque of all the candidates will be the regular communist candidate, Shapurji Saklatvala, who represented the North Battersea division as a communist in 1922-23 and from 1924 to 1929. Saklatvala is a man of great courage, with many revolutionary associations, and has run foul of the authorities many times.

What we mean by
DAIRY Bread

FOUREX - DAIRY - BREAD

AS ONE customer said to her baker after tasting this new bread—"Yes, it certainly is a delicious loaf, but why do you call it DAIRY Bread—what makes the difference from the old white loaf?" It is a simple question, simply answered.

Through the discovery of a new formula, we are now using skim milk only for the entire wetting of the dough in all our white bread. This means that Fourrex Bread is a 100% milk loaf—something never achieved in Canada before—that's why we call it DAIRY Bread. This milk adds to your white bread valuable minerals, proteins and sugars which build sound teeth, bones and muscles, and makes a loaf more delicious to taste, better for toasting and much more healthful.

Ask for a loaf of 4X Dairy Bread tomorrow and find the difference for yourself.

GREAT INTEREST BY FARMERS IN POULTRY NOTED

Agriculture Department's Literature on Subject in Big Demand

There is probably more universal interest and concern among farmers of Canada about the "construction" of poultry houses than in any other similar subject at the present time. With the increasing demand for eggs and dressed poultry as a result of grading and government inspection the poultry flock has taken on added importance as a dependable revenue producer on the farm.

Under Canadian climatic conditions one of the big problems in connection with the poultry flock is housing, and not only is it important that proper protection from the weather be afforded but it is also important that due regard be given to a type of construction which will give satisfactory results from the standpoint of health, production and convenience.

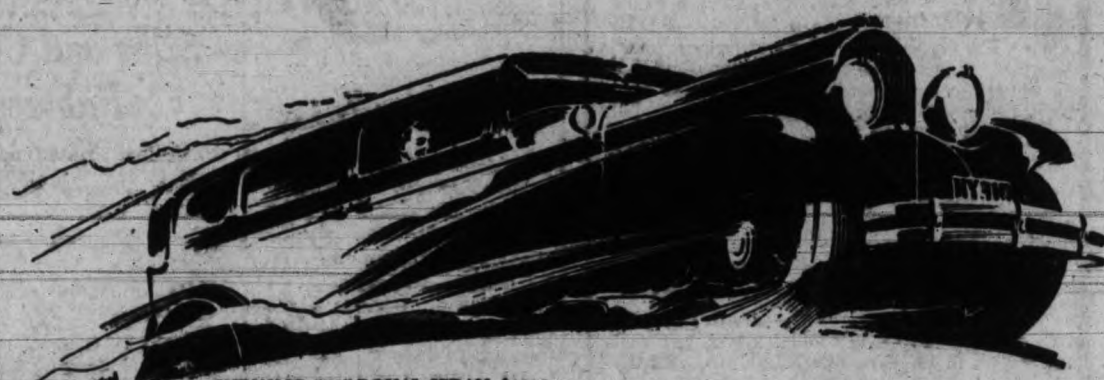

BIG DEMAND
There are already ten thousand applications on file for the revised edition of "Poultry House Construction" prepared by P. C. Elford, the Dominion Poultry Husbandman, and H. S. Gutteridge, which will be distributed without charge to those asking for it.

The bulletin is very complete in the treatment of the subject, general and detailed plans and specifications for a number of suitable types of poultry structures being included. The range includes the laying, breeding, contest, colony, incubator and brooder houses, and it also deals with the construction of roost supports, food hoppers yards and trap-nesting.

COAST REQUIREMENTS

From the standpoint of the poultry house, Canada is naturally divided into two sections—on the small, sparsely settled coast, where the weather is moderate summer and mild winter, where a building of light construction is satisfactory; the other, the rest of the Dominion, from which the bulk of Canadian poultry products is de-

Home Earlier, Fresher!

A BRISK bicycle ride after a day inside the four walls of an office or factory blows away the "cobwebs" and freshens one up amazingly. You arrive home earlier, too, and with a keener appetite.

It is easy to own a C.C.M. Bicycle this year. Prices are the lowest in thirty years. The quality has never been higher.

The big increase in C.C.M.'s output the past few years enables these new low prices to be made. Everyone knows that a bigger output means lower manufacturing costs.

The more you know about bicycles, the more you'll appreciate the fine quality of C.C.M. Bicycles, and especially these six points of superiority:

1. C.C.M. 20-year Nickel Plating.
2. C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger.
3. C.C.M. Improved Hercules Coaster Brake.
4. Three Coats of C.C.M. Enamel baked on over a Coat of Rust-Proof.
5. Gibson Pedals (on most models).
6. Dunlop Tires.

Your nearest C.C.M. dealer will give you the new 1930 catalogue, or write Canada Cycle & Motor Co., Limited, Weston (Ontario), Montreal, Winnipeg or Vancouver.

The Trouble With Marriage Is That There Are Too Many Home Truths and Too Little Courtesy, Too Much Nagging and Not Enough Affection to Make It a Going Concern

WHAT'S the matter with marriage? First, lack of good manners. Husbands and wives consider that even common civility is not an article intended for home consumption and a daily diet, but a hors d'oeuvre, like caviar, that should be kept for company. They say crude, rude, brutal things to each other that they would not dream of saying to any other human being on earth.

No man would address his stenographer in the tone of voice he uses to his wife, nor would he treat any other woman with the utter lack of courtesy and consideration he shows his wife. No woman would speak to a servant as she does to her husband, nor would she show the same disregard for the feelings and susceptibilities of any other man that she ruthlessly displays toward her husband.

Husbands and wives will take from each other the service of a lifetime; they will accept from each other the most heroic sacrifices and the most precious devotion and never once say "thank you," or give you any sign or indication of appreciation.

Why a man feels that it is no longer incumbent upon him to treat a woman as if she was a lady if she is his wife; why a woman feels that she is free to insult her husband; why husbands and wives feel that they do not have to be polite to the women and men to whom they are married, nobody can explain. But it is the lack of good manners to lubricate the domestic machine that makes it squeak and groan and break down so often.

The second thing that is the matter with marriage is that it has too many home truths and not enough diplomacy in it. Courtship is conducted on the hot-air basis, and marriage is run on the deflation principle, so it is no wonder there are so many punctured pink balloons lying on the divorce court steps.

When a man is trying to win a girl he tells her how beautiful and wonderful and how superior to all other women she is, and only too often after marriage he devotes his leisure hours at home to calling her attention to her shortcomings and telling her that she is too fat or too thin, and wondering why she can't cook like Mrs. A., or be a brilliant conversationalist like Mrs. G., or look like a flapper.

And friend wife retaliates in kind by criticizing hubby's table manners and telling him he is a failure as a humorist and wondering why he can't make money like Sally's husband does.

Both husband and wife have married thinking they were going to get a clique and they naturally feel that they have been taken in and gyped when they discover they have acquired an anvil chorus. Moreover, in some strange and inexplicable way, it is more necessary to a man to be a hero in his wife's eyes than in any one else's, and it is more important to a woman to have her husband's admiration than that of any other human being. Hence home truths are just as dangerous in the family circle as loaded bombs would be, and the truer they are, the more full of TNT they are, and the more certain they are to explode and blow all domestic happiness to Kingdom Come.

It is no part of a wife's duty to tell her husband of his faults and weaknesses, and if she wants to keep him she must keep hands and tongue off them. Nor is a husband called upon to criticize his wife's every action, nor will he do so unless he is spoiling for a fight. In the days of courtship men and women may use utter frankness in dealing with each other and discussing each other's characteristics, but after marriage candor is suicidal. Marriage is the place where diplomacy must do its great and perfect work.

The third thing that is the matter with matrimony is that neither men nor women try to make it attractive. They start in thinking it is going to be a sort of heaven on earth and when they find that it isn't, and that it is filled with trials and tribulations, they cry out "Stupid," and quit cold. They don't try to ameliorate the situation, nor to touch up their palace of dreams with a little gold paint when the veneer has got knocked off.

Very often both husband and wife slump. They don't think it worth while to dress up for each other or to try to entertain each other or to amuse each other. Home life is dull because they don't put any pep into it. Husbands run off after other women because the other women try to vamp them and their wives don't. Wives hunt up some other men to kiss them when husbands cease to bestow anything but a ham-and-eggs peck on their cheeks. Home trouble down into wrecks because nobody kept them repaired by mending the breakage and the leaks with little attentions, little pleasures, little tendernesses.

The fourth thing that is the matter with marriage is that too many husbands and wives make of it a jail. The motto over many a newlywed's door is: "Abandon freedom all ye who enter here." Husband considers that he has a right to boss his wife's every thought and action and to dictate to her what clothes she shall wear, the length of her skirt, and her hair, whether she shall use cosmetics or not, and to tell her generally where she gets on and off. Many women after they are married never have a cent of money that they can spend as they choose. They can't even visit their mother without asking husband's permission, and husband considers that they are derelict in performing their duties if they have any interest outside the home.

Many women believe that marriage gives them a right to police the incomes and outgoings of their husbands, to edit the husband's list of friends, to dictate to husband what he shall eat, how he shall have his hair cut, whether he shall smoke or not, and what sort of ties he shall wear. There are thousands of husbands who have to give up all of their old friends when they marry, who cannot even visit their mothers without a row, who tremble with fear if they are five minutes late in punching the home time clock, and who do not even have a servant girl's privilege of one evening off a week.

None of us love our jailers, and these slave-wives and slave-husbands hate their tyrants, and form the bulk of those who hasten to the divorce court in search of freedom or who else form the host of reconciled widows and widowers that we see all about us.

And, finally, the thing that is most the matter with marriage is that there is not enough love in it. Given plenty of that, nothing else matters.

TRAGEDY TRAILS SCION OF MILLIONS, FORMER GAY PLAYBOY OF RACE TRACKS

Two Ex-sweethearts Die, Fortune Is Lost and Wife Sues as Luck Turns
Against Carl Wiedemann, Millionaire Son of Brewery Magnate

TRAGEDY and misfortune, trailing on each other's heels, have shadowed the life of Carl Wiedemann, scion of brewery millions and former "playboy of the race tracks."

Two of his sweethearts have plunged to their death from hotel windows. His third marriage is now in the divorce courts. Race horses have cleaned him of a fortune. A term in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta stands against his record.

Until just the other day the one-time wealthy race track plunger was on the payroll of the city of Newport as a street inspector. Now, it develops, he no longer holds that job.

Carl Wiedemann's life has been a hectic one.

Soon after his return from Harvard he persuaded his father, Charles Wiedemann, owner of the Wiedemann Brewing Co. of Newport to stake him to a stable of race horses. In all his life, Carl Wiedemann had never refused one thing by his indulgent parents so he became a turfman. Then the tragedy started.

FIRST SWEETHEART PLUNGES TO HER DEATH

Dorothy Rainey, a Newport girl and famous for her beauty, promised to marry him. They were engaged and had planned a honeymoon in Europe. Then, one day in 1923, when she and Carl were at Lexington, Ky., where a race meeting was being held, "Dot" Rainey, plunged to her death from a hotel window. Some said she ended her life. Others said it was an accident. It went down in the records as an accidental death.

When the race meeting opened at Latona, Wiedemann entered a horse called "In Memoriam"—named for "Dot" Rainey, his dead sweetheart. In the spring of 1923 he bested Harry Sinclair's mighty Zev and the great My Own, owned by Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson. As a result, Wiedemann pocketed $50,000.

In Memoriam and Zev were matched to run for a $25,000 purse at Louisville in the fall. Wiedemann wagered a small fortune on his thoroughbred. To prove one of the greatest match races in the history of the turf.

KEY CALLED VICTOR IN THRILLING RACE

In Memoriam won, so many contended, but the judges decided in favor of Zev. The movie showed in Memoriam was first as the finish was so close the cameras of the newspapermen. But the pari-mutuels paid off as the judges ruled, Carl Wiedemann lost heavily.

The Wiedemann fortune began to dwindle. He had twenty thoroughbreds in his racing stables then. Five years later he had three mares. Soon he had none.

After In Memoriam's defeat, Wiedemann slipped fast. With racing luck

After his release from prison, Wiedemann practically dropped from sight. Newspaper headline writers almost forgot his name.

Then, recently, he sued for divorce. The suit revealed that he had married Cecelia Doolin of Cincinnati on October 25, 1925. At the time their wedding was rumored both denied it.

Just the other day came the latest tragedy. Allyn King, former Polaris beauty and a sweetheart of Wiedemann about the time his mightily In Memoriam was scoring turf triumphs, killed herself in New York. She leaped from a hotel window.

EX-BEAUTY FAILS IN EFFORT TO COME BACK

Allyn was a martyr to Broadway's harsh rule that "they never come back."

A few years ago she was a reigning stage star. Elevated from a cabaret girl by Ziegfeld, she became a star.

In 1921 came the crash for the "boyish" figure and her contract said she must weigh 115 pounds. She lived for months on a strict diet and finally was taken to a sanitarium, a mental and physical wreck.

At last she recovered, only to find she couldn't regain her former place on Broadway. Her suicide followed.

When his father's will was filed provision was made for a $100,000 trust fund for Carl. But so far the fund has not been created, as the estate has not yet been settled.

CARELESS DRIVING

No longer can we blame the truck driver, or the pedestrian, or the thoughtless youngsters, or even the railroads for the great increase of fatalities due to automobile accidents. For last year, the National Safety Council finds, the ten per cent increase of such deaths in 1929 were due for the greater part to careless driving.

This conclusion was made after a thorough survey of all states and a study of the accident statistics of the country. It is a sad reflection on us who had all this time been complaining of jay-walking pedestrians, of playful children and of ungarded railroad crossings. It leaves us without an alibi for our own disregard of the same rules of driving.

Speed, say the highway authorities of many cities and states, is the chief cause of our major accidents to-day. Others lay the fatalities to the mixture of intoxication and speed. Still others blame the accidents on inadequate enforcement.

Whatever the cause, however, it is the driver who is to blame for the increase of auto fatalities. It is the man who weaves in and out through heavy traffic, who cuts corners to the left, who spurts ahead before the light has turned green, who stops short quickly, who disregards all but himself—it is this driver who is to blame for our street accidents.

Let us be more careful, more considerate, and we shall avoid having a gruesome accident toll upon our heads.

Lost Pounds of Fat —in 2 short weeks

Kruschen Balts will give many a fat person a joyous surprise. You can knock pounds off your weight and years off your age this safe and easy way. Every morning take "the little daily dose" of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast. This will mean that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases is being expelled from the system. They are the cause of all the trouble because they remain in the system and accumulate in the form of excess, unhealthy fat. "I have lost several pounds in less than 2 weeks. It is so safe and easy. No dieting, no drugs. I have tried several other ways, but with no good results. Kruschen is all you claim it to be."

After three or four weeks of the little daily dose, get on to the scales and see how many pounds of fat you have lost. Your mirror also will tell you what you have gained in health and vigor. Your eyes will sparkle, your skin will be clearer, you will feel unbelievably youthful and energetic—you will feel many pounds lighter and many years younger.

TRUE INSIGHT INTO COMMERCIAL LIFE IN "A WOMAN IN PAWN"

In stage and screen plays there has been given many an insight into commercial life, but few of these glimpses have been convincing. Somehow the air of hustle and suspense has been too artificial. But this is not a charge that can be brought against "A Woman in Pawn," a British film dealing with London's own "city" and social life now showing at the Columbia.

The picture derives added conviction from the fact that its drama is not confined to the business angle to the plot. It has far reaching consequences affecting the domestic amenities of a young stockbroker whose adopted wife is victimized by his unscrupulous business rival.

Years' difference

She wanted to be in the beauty chorus, so she wrote an application, enclosed her photograph, and was asked to come for an interview. Imagine her surprise when told by the manager she was too late.

AT THE THEATRES

GOOD HOUSES SEE MOVIETONE FILM AT THE COLISEUM

Fox Movietone's record breaking Alfred Santell production, "Romance of Rio Grande," is maintaining its nation wide popularity by attracting capacity audiences to the Coliseum Theatre. It is another all-talking picture which has created new records for the organization, and is threatening to surpass the mark set in "In Old Arizona." Warner Baxter, Mary Duncan and Antonio Moreno are featured.

VENTRILOQUIST SHOWS LOVE FOR DUMMY IN PLAYHOUSE PICTURE

Ventriloquists love their little mannikins without which their acts would be incomplete. What is more, all ventriloquists get into the habit of conversing with their little wooden counterparts of the neighborhood's bad boy. A ventriloquist's attachment for his "dummy" is one of the wonders of the vaudeville world.

With a "voice throwing" entertainer's love for his mannikin as the cardinal premise, Ben Hecht, noted author and playwright, has woven one of the most dramatic backstage stories ever presented on the screen. It is "The Great Gabbo," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, with Erich von Stroheim as the star. This production, which is James Cruze's first talking picture, is one of the outstanding "hits" of the current metropolitan season.

WRITER MAKES BIG MONEY IN MYSTERY STORIES FOR SCREEN

S. S. Van Dine, author of one of the most popular series of detective novels ever written, is almost a millionaire because he dealt in crime only as a means of entertainment. He wrote "The Green Murder Case," "The Benson Murder Case," "Each of them entertained millions of readers in book form, and tens of millions of motion picture audiences."

The third story in the series, "The Benson Murder Case," has been filmed by Paramount, with William Powell again playing the role of Philo Vance, and will show at the Capitol Theatre for the last time to-night.

POPULAR SINGER HEARD ON SCREEN AT THE DOMINION

To-night for the last time Rudy Vallee's golden voice will be heard from the screen of the Dominion Theatre. In his first feature film, "The Vagabond Lover," Vallee has undoubtedly drawn more fans into a local movie house than any player making a first screen appearance in history. His great popularity on the radio brought crowds on the first day and comment on the excellence of the picture kept them coming.
